Mr. Ma Huateng, Chairman and CEO of Tencent, said, "In the second quarter, we deepened user engagement on mobile across our social, games and media platforms. Our online advertising business grew particularly strongly, benefiting from increased traffic at our video platform, the FIFA World Cup event, and performance advertising on our mobile social platform. Our ecosystem continues to expand as we pursue the strategy of working with category leaders, including NavInfo, a mapping service provider and 58.com, a local listing platform. We are seeing the benefits of this approach, as evidenced in the successful listing of JD.com. Looking forward, we will continue to grow our platform, invest in areas such as O2O and content, and enhance our user experience."

Financial Review for the Second Quarter of 2014

Value Added Services (VAS). Revenues from our VAS business increased by 9% QoQ to RMB15,713 million. Online games revenues increased by 7% QoQ to RMB11,081 million, despite weaker seasonality for ACG in China. This was primarily driven by revenue growth from smart phone games integrated with Mobile QQ and Weixin. Revenues from PC client games remained broadly stable. Social networks revenues increased by 15% QoQ to RMB4,632 million. This was mainly driven by growth in item sales on mobile platforms. Subscription revenues registered modest sequential growth due to an increase in revenues from QQ Membership, Qzone Subscription Service and Super VIP.

Online advertising. Revenues from our online advertising business increased by 75% QoQ to RMB2,064 million. This primarily reflected more favourable seasonality in the second quarter, as well as the positive impact of the FIFA World Cup and our strategic co-operation with JD.com. This also reflected the continued growth in video advertising and performance-based social advertising.

eCommerce transactions. Revenues from our eCommerce transactions business decreased by 48% QoQ to RMB1,324 million. This primarily reflected the shift in traffic and the divestment of our eCommerce marketplaces as a result of our strategic transaction with JD.com.

Other Key Financial Information for the Second Quarter of 2014

Share-based compensation was RMB587 million for the second quarter of 2014 as compared with RMB568 million for the previous quarter.

Capital expenditure was RMB917 million for the second quarter of 2014 as compared with RMB1,138 million for the previous quarter.

The Company repurchased 153,000 shares on the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong for an aggregate consideration of HKD77 million in the second quarter of 2014.

As at June 30, 2014, net cash position totaled RMB22,485 which excluded borrowings of RMB8,820 million and long-term notes payable of RMB26,912 million.

As at June 30, 2014, the total number of shares of the Company in issue was 9.343 billion.

Strategic Highlights

We continued to enrich our O2O ecosystem by making strategic investments in and partnering with classified listings company 58.com and map service provider NavInfo. We believe our users will benefit from the expanding range of quality services enabled by our O2O partners, broadening and enhancing their user experiences. We believe merchants and service providers will benefit in areas such as better customer relationship management, improved consumer targeting, enhanced word-of-mouth effect through social referral and more efficient transaction settlement with our mobile payment solutions.

In recent months, a number of our investee companies have become publicly listed as a result of IPOs, including JD.com and Cheetah Mobile. Taking into account these newly-listed investments, together with our investments in already-listed companies such as 58.com, Mail.ru and Kingsoft, the fair value of our stakes in listed investee companies (both associates and available-for-sale financial assets) totaled RMB65 billion at the end of the second guarter of 2014.

Divisional and Product Highlights

- Key platform statistics:
 - MAU of QQ user accounts were 829 million, a decrease of 2% QoQ or an increase of 1% YoY.
 - Smart device MAU of QQ was 521 million, an increase of 6% QoQ or an increase of 45% YoY.
 - PCU of QQ was 206 million, an increase of 3% QoQ or an increase of 19% YoY.
 - Combined MAU of Weixin and WeChat were 438 million, an increase of 11% QoQ or an increase of 57% YoY.
 - MAU of Qzone was 645 million, stable QoQ or an increase of 3% YoY.
 - Smart device MAU of Qzone was 497 million, an increase of 6% QoQ or an increase of 37% YoY.
 - Fee-based VAS registered subscriptions were 88 million, stable QoQ or a decrease of 11% YoY.

Key Platforms

In the second quarter of 2014, QQ and Qzone continued to experience significant expansion in mobile user base and enhanced user engagement. For QQ, smart device MAU increased by 45% YoY to 521 million at the end of the quarter. We enhanced the ecosystem on Mobile QQ by connecting with the services of our strategic partners, such as JD.com and Dianping, and upgrading Mobile QQ Wallet, which enables users to purchase virtual goods and settle O2O transactions via their bank cards. We enhanced community activity through new functions such as Interest Tribes and improved the user experience for picture sharing. For Qzone, smart device MAU increased by 37% YoY to 497 million at the end of the second quarter of 2014. User engagement and activity improved during the quarter with cross-platform integration and enhanced user experience.

Combined MAU of Weixin and WeChat increased by 57% YoY to 438 million at the end of the second quarter of 2014. We enhanced the community and payment functionalities of Weixin, and broadened the breadth and reach of Weixin's service offerings by connecting our core capabilities with those of our strategic partners. For instance, users can now purchase products from JD.com through a direct access point in Weixin and settle the transactions via Weixin Payment, and can search content of Weixin's Official Accounts via Sogou. As for WeChat, we continued to focus on driving user engagement in selected international markets.

In the second quarter of 2014, we enhanced the leadership of our media platforms, in particular by using our social networks to deliver updates in a timely and relevant manner. For the FIFA World Cup, we combined our content strengths with the extensive reach of our leading media platforms across PC and mobile, including Tencent News and Tencent Video, and our highly engaging social platforms. As a result, we leveraged the event to generate not only significant traffic and user interaction, but also healthy contributions to our revenues and profits.

VAS

In the second quarter of 2014, our social networks business expanded further. Item sales on our platforms registered solid YoY growth mainly due to mobile, while the declining trend in our VAS subscription services also showed initial signs of bottoming out. As compared to the previous quarter, total subscription count stabilised and revenues grew moderately, primarily driven by our continued focus on enriching the mobile privileges of our subscription services. QQ Membership and Qzone subscription service achieved sequential revenue growth, while contribution from Super VIP continued to increase.

Our online game business achieved healthy YoY growth in the second quarter of 2014. For PC client games, we benefited from contribution of new titles, such as Assault Fire and Blade & Soul, together with the growth of LoL in China and international markets. We will continue to enrich our portfolio of ACGs and MMOGs with new titles in different genres, while introducing expansion packs for our major titles. For mobile games, we built a significant revenue base and established a strong market position in publishing. Total revenues generated from smart phone games integrated with Mobile QQ and Weixin increased sequentially to approximately RMB3 billion for the second quarter of 2014, reflecting growth in our paying user base and ARPU driven by mid-core games and in-game promotions. We were ranked the No. 1 publisher in China's iOS App Store by free downloads and revenue for each of the first seven months of 2014, according to App Annie. Given we have already achieved substantial revenue from smart phone games in the first half of 2014, we intend to prioritise user engagement and game portfolio expansion over revenue growth during the second half of this year. Consequently, it is possible that our smart phone games revenues for each of the coming two quarters would be broadly stable as compared to the level for the second quarter of 2014.

Online advertising

In the second quarter of 2014, our advertising business benefited from the growth in video advertising and performance-based social advertising, as well as the positive impacts of the FIFA World Cup and our strategic co-operation with JD.com. During the quarter, we made initial progress in monetising mobile advertising opportunities, capitalising on our significant traffic base across different mobile platforms. For instance, in the second quarter of 2014, we generated meaningful performance-based advertising revenues on Mobile Qzone, and we experimented with performance-based text link advertising on selected Weixin Official Accounts.

eCommerce Transactions

Our eCommerce transaction business has entered a transitional phase subsequent to our strategic transaction with JD.com in March 2014. During the quarter, the business experienced a significant decline in revenues and costs, arising from the traffic shift to JD.com and the divestment of our eCommerce marketplaces as a result of the transaction. We expect the eCommerce segment's revenues and costs to decline further as we continue shifting focus toward supporting our strategic partnership with JD.com, consistent with the new strategy we announced during the first quarter of 2014.
